Bank request renews debate on Maryville business zoning

A 1.7-acre of land located outside the Granite City limits on Maryville Road was called an important symbol of future community development by both supporters and opponents of a commercial zoning petition during a public hearing Thursday.

At the hearing, Attorney Leo Konzen, representing Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, sought the endorsement of Granite City Plan Commissioners in obtaining commercial zoning rights for the strip of property where the bank intends to install an automatic banking facility.

Alderman Michael Modrusil,

Seventh Ward, considers the proposal a move closer to the residential erosion of Maryville Road. The alderman said any additional commercial zoning there could open a legal loophole for others seeking zoning plans which might be contrary to future city council rulings.

Commissioners ultimately recommended that the city council deny the request for commercial zoning, should the bank decide to approach the council for annexation.

The petition was defeated, despite the fact that none of the nine commissioners present voted against the zoning request. The five commissioners voting for the proposal found themselves one vote short of the six needed for quorum approval, according to the rules of the board.

Four members abstained, including two commissioners with direct connections to the bank. The tenth member was absent.

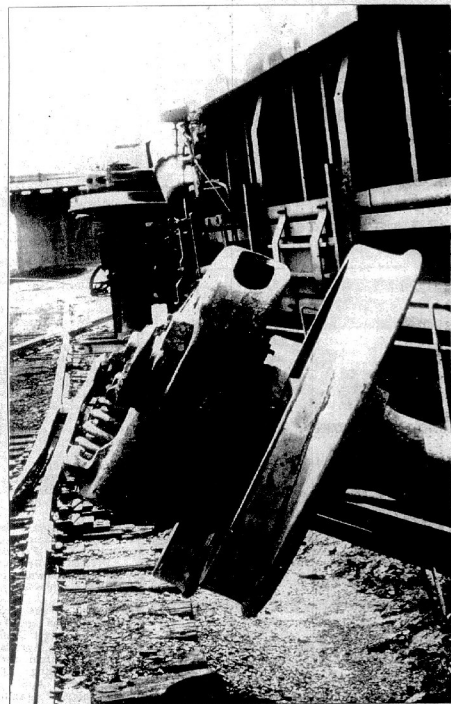

Earlier in the hearing, commissioners approved by voice vote an amendment to the city's zoning ordinance to allow banks and other financial institutions in more strictly regulated commercial zones. Attorney Konzen contended the new zoning category — primarily intended for 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. professional offices — would permit the bank to operate within a controlled zoning environment.

The attorney said he conducted his own informal survey of land use on the east side of Maryville Road, between Pontoon Road and Parkway Drive, and found only two single-family residential dwellings. Two of those three residents were present at the hearing in support of the zoning proposal.

Konzen said churches and a school now located on the west side of Maryville Road, while allowed in

Tax collection starts at all local banks

By BILL WINTER

of the Press-Record

In an apparent victory for the concept of local tax collection, Quad-City banks are starting to accept real estate tax payments this week.

Collections are beginning today for Granite City Township and will start tomorrow for Nameoki and Venice townships.

The banks' decision has been praised by City Treasurer Nick Petrillo of Granite City, Norman Hall of Nameoki and Zella Nicholas of Venice Township. "Many people here just cannot take off to go to Edwardsville to pay their taxes," Petrillo commented today.

Mailing of tax bills began Friday. Township tax collectors won a Circuit Court ruling July 9 permitting them to proceed with their duties until Sept. 1 each year.

As of the start of September, tax collection—usually the second of the two installments—goes to the Madison County treasurer.

A member of Treasurer Mick Henkhaus' staff last week told all county banks that if they choose to "collect taxes for any of the town collectors (in Granite City, Nameoki, Venice and Edwardsville), they will not be collecting any tax bills for the county treasurer's office. They cannot collect for both and they cannot collect after Sept. 1."

Despite this warning, there is belief that the banks feel they have legal authority to prevent Henkhaus from blocking collection by them before and after Sept. 1, Petrillo said. The banks forward tax proceeds to the townships and, after the cutoff date, to the county treasurer.

Petrillo added that collection is starting today at his office on the main floor of the City Hall in Granite City.

Hours at the city treasurer's office will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each weekday, Monday through Friday.

In addition, Granite City tax bills can be paid during regular banking hours at the First Granite City National Bank, American Heritage Bank of Granite City and Colonial Bank of Granite City.

The First National Bank in Madison will be the scene of tax collections from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. each Friday.

Venice Township tax collections will be centered at the Madison bank as well as at the Venice Township collector's office.

For Nameoki Township, collection sites will be the five Quad-City banks and (by mail or visit) at the Nameoki Township office, 4250 Highway 162.

The 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily collection on weekdays at the Nameoki town office is for checks only. Collector Norman Hall said today. At the Madison bank and the four Granite City banks, Nameoki tax payments may be made in the form of cash or checks.

Quiet Valley search warrants this week?

By GEORGEANNE McGEE

of the Press-Record

Superintendent Gene Futch, Madison County Sanitary Sewer Special Service Area 1, said this morning, he was going to court today to sign 24 search warrants, which will be issued to uncooperative Quiet Valley homeowners in Pontoon Beach early this week.

Marshal "Zeke" Smith, assistant state's attorney, said five names will be selected at random from among the list of those 24 refusing inspections for illegal use of the county's sanitary sewer system.

Smith said he hoped the initial searches will serve as a warning to those who routinely use their sanitary sewer system as a dumping line for flooded basements and yards.

Futch said he expects to begin serving the first five search warrants tomorrow.

Following the heavy rains experienced July 10, the district recorded daily flows of up to six times the average for Madison County Sanitary Sewers in Special Service Area One.

County Board Member Morris Miles, chairman of the sewer committee, blamed the increase in flow on private pump pumps and warned that residents may unwillingly be raising their sewer bills. Miles said the county sewer system's contract with Granite City expires in February, when rates could raise according to the increased flow.

Pressure from an overloaded line now is considered the prime source of a deluge of raw sewage which flooded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Witter Sr. of Sunny Dell Acres, Mitchell, July 10.

The state's attorney's office representative would not issue a list of the homes expected to be searched; however, Smith said the

Contrast at Knoxville World's Fair

By BILL WINTER

of the Press-Record

The World's Fair offers crowds, excitement, sore feet, fun, diverse information on energy, Pac Man at every turn and, above all, a multitude of contrasts.

Many Quad-Cityans already have visited sunny Knoxville, Tenn., for the 21-nation May 1-Oct. 31 exposition, and many more plan to attend.

One contrast is that, while numerous people here and elsewhere are dropping any thought of going, the fair is proving to be a financial success, unlike all of its predecessors.

Additional contrasts include:

—Garish modern attractions in the midst of the timeless beauty of artifacts from ancient Egypt and China.

—Turn-of-the-century buildings that seem likely to endure for many more decades, next to a 76-foot-diameter steel-framed golden-glass "sun sphere" atop a 192-foot-tall tower. Near them are networks of yellow tents and blue-painted corrugated metal buildings; both the tarpaulins and steel are destined to be quickly dismantled for use elsewhere.

—Plenty of the "hurry up and wait" Quad-Cityans learned about when in the armed services. Fairgoers often run from one exhibit to the next, only to stand in line for as much as several hours.

—Ample housing despite widely-believed reports to the contrary.

—Sharp differences in the cost of that housing, and in other prices.

—The peaceful scenic wonders of rural East Tennessee, surrounding the hustle and bustle of the fair and its technological marvels.

—Raucous night-life in the Knoxville area but a strong religious emphasis at numerous sites on the 72-acre fairgrounds.

—Sophisticated French dining alongside bountiful supplies of hickory-flavored ham, red-eye gravy, smoked country sausage, Jimmy Carter gifts, homemade buttermilk biscuits, mouth-watering corn muffins and, last but not least, blackberry cobbler.

—"You've got to be there" is the slogan on each day's $9.95 tickets, and the official theme of the fair is "Energy turns the world."

The fair is not "turning on" many of those who see it or hear about it, although at least a large group says it is spending an enjoyable day or two of three there.

Should local residents make a point of making the trip (480 miles, but a short 480 over convenient interstate routes)?

The answer depends mainly on what constitutes a "good time" in each person's viewpoint. And experiences have differed markedly, depending on luck, the weather and how various families choose to spend their time at the fair.

It is certainly relatively easy to get there, by auto, by bus or by plane. And there will not be a closer one to the Quad-Cities until Chicago's 1992 fair.

There has not been one in the Southeastern U.S. for 87 years, and this is the first one we have attended since the big one near Shea Stadium in New York City in 1964-65. (No, we did not make it to the 1904 fair in St. Louis.)

With the 1982 fair seen as a jewel, sparkling in its beauty and sparking ideas for change and improvement, what of the setting for it?

Consider the state as well as the 182,000-population city that did not know it was "too small" to plan an international fair, and so went ahead and did it.

Tennessee, one of the best known of all the states, has a lot to offer.

Those who believe that statement include the authors of the state's 1982 visitor guide. (The colorful 76-page book just happens to have on its cover a Tennessee girl, Dolly Parton.) The authors was a bit lyrical.

"Tennessee. The name itself is poetry, derived from the Cherokee 'Tanasi,' given first to a town and a stream and shared these many years by the big river that forms in Knoxville and flows through a great valley to find the Ohio."

It is "the land of the Tennessee Waltz, whose Chattanooga Choo-Choo and shoeshine boy are sung about all over the world, of night trains to Memphis and a brave engineer named Casey Jones...of blues born in Handy's Memphis and borrowed and embellished by another Memphis, Elvis Presley."

Tennessee is "the place where people

Dedicate Alpine Village

By GARY SCHNEIDER

The David Conzole Alpine Village Shopping Center, Third Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, was officially opened under a hot blazing sun in equally bright ceremonies Saturday morning. Approximately 300 persons withstood temperatures in the 90s to witness the ceremonies.

Numerous state and local dignitaries attended the ceremonies, which included a ribbon cutting and unveiling of a display case at the front of the store containing photos and memorabilia of the life of former Navy Commander David Conzole of Madison.

Cdr. Conzole, winner of the Silver Star and numerous other decorations, was commander of the USS Trigger submarine, which failed to return from a war patrol in the vicinity of Nansel Shoto, Asiatic area, April 21, 1945.

At a frontiers state, Tennessee regards energy research as its new frontier.

Knoxville is a natural for the energy fair because it already is an energy center. It is the headquarters of the Tennessee Valley Authority, the nation's largest public utility.

The host city also is the home of the University of Tennessee, where extensive energy research takes place. And nearby is Oak Ridge, where the nuclear age was born during World War II (if you do not count Illinois, where mankind first split the atom).

In his honor, the Navy honored the late commander by naming for him the USS Connelley, a guided missile cruiser, specially designed for locating and destroying enemy submarines.

Capt. George A. Yonov, commanding officer of the USS Connelley, was to have been the chief speaker at the dedication of the new Alpine Village, but sent a letter to Madison Mayor Mike Sauter noting that the Connelley had been ordered to ship out and Yonov would be unable to be in Madison that day.

Capt. Yonov was a member of the USS Connelley, one of the shopping center and the other for Mayor Sauter.

Filling in as the main speaker for the ceremony was his son, Lt. James A. Yonov, a Navy aviator. He detailed the history of the family and of Navy ships which have played a part in the family's past and future. He noted that his son is named David Reese Connelley.

Dianna Edwards, 16, of 2916 Sunset Drive, sustained injuries at 12:45 a.m. Saturday when she fell off the hood of a moving auto on Fridling Road, near Bradley Avenue. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and treated for numerous abrasions and second degree road burns to the right thigh and was released.

The girls, all 16 years old, were reported seeing four girls on the vehicle, which was traveling west on Fridling Road, and then hearing the screaming when one girl fell off and the vehicle skidded, dragging the girl a short distance.

Driver of the vehicle was Kent E. Allen, 18, of 2241 State St., who said the four girls got on the hood in the 2900 block of State Street. He told them to get off and when they didn't, he reported driving away at a slow speed, he informed police.

The girls, all 16 years old, said they yelled at Allen, telling him to stop the car, but alleged he kept on driving. He was charged with reckless driving and was released pending an Aug. 20 appearance.

TRUCK GONE AGAIN
An orange and white U-Haul truck, valued at $10,000, was stolen for the second time in a two-day period from Ralph's Texas service station, 2200 Madison Ave., it was reported at 2:25 p.m. Friday. The vehicle had been recovered Wednesday, July 14, near Wilson Park after the initial theft.

Authorities said those killed were James Douglas Crider Sr., 48, Mary E. Borden, 37, Lonnie J. Waters, 32, and Charles Mansfield, 39, all of Dexter.

Mrs. Borden and Waters were pronounced dead at the scene and Crider died on the way to a hospital. Mansfield, bartender at the Red Fox Lounge, where the shooting occurred, was treated at the Dexter hospital and then transferred to St. Louis.

James L. Caudel, 35, of Poplar Bluff, Mo., who also listed an address in Granite City, is one of two men charged with capital murder in the shooting of four persons in a tavern at Dexter, a town of 7,043 in southeastern Missouri, about 4:15 p.m. Saturday.

London in 1851 to the most recent, in Spokane, Wash., in 1974—has been marked by innovations in science, the arts, architecture and commerce.

"The 1887 fair in Paris introduced the aluminum and natural gas heat, as well as the first ice cream soda and the first department store."

"Inventors displayed the telephone, typewriter and elevator at the 1876 World's Fair in Philadelphia."

"Exhibitors demonstrated television for the first time to the public at the 1939 New York fair."

"History may be made again in Knoxville. By providing a showcase where nations, states, businesses and organizations may address the energy concerns of humankind, we will achieve a turning point in the understanding of energy."

Clearly, much energy was expended to make the fair a reality.

S. H. Roberts Jr., president of the fair, recalls that "in 1975, permission was sought to hold the fair here, with energy as its central theme."

"Approval was granted by the Bureau of International Expositions in France in 1977. Then, the search for a location, financing and participants began."

"Thousands of volunteers and a dedicated staff led the way. After seven years of hard work, the fair is open."

"More than 20 nations, 50 corporations and 5,000 employees are giving their best to see to it that each visitor has a great experience. We thank all fairgoers for sharing with us the excitement of creating history."

Fair Chairman Jake F. Butcher adds, "These 168 days are making all the effort worthwhile. Seeing this event completed successfully, with millions of people enjoying it, is the highest, 'high' of them all."

He predicts "unforgettable memories of this once-in-a-lifetime event."

It may not be a once-in-a-lifetime experience for everyone but, undoubtedly, it is unique—unlike any other fair that Quad-Cities are likely to attend.

Do not wait until November to decide whether to go. Like ghosts, goblins and trick-or-treaters, it will disappear after Halloween night.

restricted zoning areas, are high activity centers in the county.

If the bank's property is brought into the city under the strictest commercial zoning, which the bank is seeking, the entire area could eventually be brought into the city under favorable zoning status.

Konzen said the "highly restrictive" nature of the city classification could serve as pattern for the types of businesses that would be allowed in the future.

He acknowledged that any future annexation of the property could affect about 60 homes in the Gorge subdivision, which in the past has refused the annexation of the property.

The attorney, however, said the control advantages of the zoning request outweighed other considerations.

City Planning Commissioner Michael DeRuntz said that of the 35 hearing notices sent to residents in the Gorge area, only one complaint was received at his office.

Alderman Modrusic compared the commercial zoning request on Maryland Road with similar requests on Johnson Road, where spot zoning battles were fought both on the council floor and in the courts.

Modrusic said he wants to see more residential development in the Maryland area, further opposing commercialization. The alderman said he believes residents back his stand, but he will soon canvass residents for their views.

Modrusic called the proposal a bid for "controlled spot zoning" for land sandwiched between two residentially-zoned areas. Konzen, though, pointed out the close proximity of a general commercial area containing a banking facility on Maryland Road.

According to the attorney, he is uncertain of Granite City's future plans for the area. He said, however, that if a small automatic banking facility is successful there, the bank could decide at some point to build a larger facility.

Plan Commission Chairman David Morgan said the council will be given a report on the unusual vote.

In other zoning action, the commission voted to recommend to the council a request by John Jaros to change the zoning classification of 1420

State St. from its present central business district rating to light industrial zoning.

The area borders a heavy industrial use zoning district. Attorney Alan Walker said the alderman said residents approving the request, said the building would be used as a storage area for metal.

Jaros said the building had originally been built as a machine shop, but under the new zoning ordinance, the building was caught within a commercial district.

Two residents, who lived behind the site, expressed concern that the change could jeopardize the future zoning classification for homes in that area.

Award honors medical center additions

The American Institute of Architects has presented an award to DEG Associates for the design of St. Elizabeth Medical Center's lobby and Bonaventure's, the Medical Center cafeteria.

Awards are presented by the institute every three years for outstanding architectural designs in seven categories. The Bonaventure's and lobby designs were given awards in the "use of brick" category.

According to Dan Green, president of DEG Associates, aesthetics were important considerations in the design of the two buildings. "The administration wanted these areas to present a positive image to the community and provide a psychological lift for people," he says, "and the hospital had a commitment to do a nice job for the staff." Bonaventure's, in particular, was to be designed as a pleasant, relaxing place where associates could spend meal times and breaks and enjoy attractive surroundings.

With these guidelines in mind, DEG architects included long banks of skylights in the design of the lobby's two-story cathedral ceiling, giving the structure an open and spacious atmosphere. The natural wood used in the construction of the circular information desk and coffee shop partitions add a feeling of warmth to the area. The Intensive Care Unit-Surgery waiting room, located on the first floor balcony along the back of the lobby, is open, well lighted and provides an area for visitors that is private, but not isolated.

With the Bonaventure's design, Green says that the goal was to provide an intimate environment, yet seat many people. To accomplish this, he says, "it was necessary to break up space visually to provide a variety of experiences for people."

These visual breaks were achieved in part with a split-level floor plan. Cafeteria patrons entering the seating area have the choices of main level seating, upper level booths and tables, or tables on one of two levels. Booth seating along outer walls and solid wood railings that divide the different levels also provide visual breaks.

These methods of breaking up space have the effect of creating several separate compartments that increase privacy. Tables which would have been side-by-side with a flat floor plan are separated by one or two levels.

Additional privacy is provided with booth seating. The lobby and cafeteria were part of St. Elizabeth Medical Center's recent $16 million construction and renovation project, completed in 1981. The principal architect for the project was Don McMahon of DEG Associates.

Retirement funds for non-working spouses

Married individuals, whether or not they are covered by a pension plan or work, may be eligible to set up an Individual Retirement Arrangement (IRA) for themselves and a dependent spouse. For non-working spouses, the Internal Revenue Service said today, a spousal IRA is a savings program which allows husband and wife to set aside money for their own retirement.

Contributions to an IRA are tax deductible and earnings accrued are not taxed until they are distributed, usually upon the individual's retirement. To qualify for the spousal IRA, an individual must be married at the end of the tax year.

County's farm council elects

Vincent Hess, Marine area, has been elected president of the Madison County Agriculture Extension Council for the 1982-83 year. He will lead the group in developing farm extension programs to meet needs of people in Madison County.

Bruce Dorsey, Moro area, was elected vice president of the extension Council. He is starting his third year on the council.

Ben Grillo, Fosterburg area, was elected secretary of the council. He is in his second year of service on the council. Serving on the Agriculture Council for the first time are: Dave Highlander, Edwardsville area; John Dorsey, Moro area; Walter Bohn, Maryville area; and Don Schuette, Stanton area.

year, and the spouse cannot be an active participant in a pension plan or receive compensation during the year.

Beginning in 1982, the amount deductible each year for a contribution to an IRA and spousal IRA is $2,250. Under the old law, a minimum deduction of $1,750 was permitted.

Moreover, under the new law, contributions are no longer required to be equal for husband and wife.

For example, instead of having to contribute $1,125 to his IRA and $1,125 to his wife's, a man can now contribute $2,000 to his plan and $250 to his wife's.

To set up spousal IRA, individuals may use trust and custodial accounts, or annuity and endowment contracts approved by the Internal Revenue Service. Information on taxation aspects of spousal IRAs is given in IRS Publication 590, "Tax Information on Individual Retirement Arrangements." It is available free by writing the IRS.

Certify state laboratories

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that the forensic science laboratories operated by the Department of Law Enforcement (DLE) in Illinois have won accreditation from a leading national organization.

The eight forensic science laboratories in Illinois have earned this national honor through the high professional law enforcement standards that they practice," the Governor said.

Much of the crime fighting effort that keeps our streets safe is painstaking, technical work, the kind of work that these labs do every day for police around the state," he said.

Thompson, speaking at award ceremonies at DLE's Maplewood laboratory, 1401 S. Maybrook, said that the American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors (ASCLD) accredited the Illinois lab system based upon inspections that surveyed the condition of facilities and equipment, management practices, performance based on case histories and the education and training of the staff at each laboratory.

"We also checked the labs' ability to handle a broad range of specialties," said Carlos L. Rabren, Chairman of ASCLD's Accreditation Board. "On each point, every one of the labs met or exceeded our criteria. "Illinois is truly one of the country's leaders in forensic science," Rabren said. He also said that forensic labs in Illinois applied for accreditation on a voluntary basis.

Besides the Maywood facility, the other DLE laboratories include De Soto, Fairview Heights, Joliet, Morton, Springfield, Rockford and the Training and Applications Lab in Joliet.

Double taxation on patients who pay their hospital bills?

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Editor

"It's a shame. It's double taxation," was how Frank McGinnis, vice president of finance for St. Elizabeth Medical Center, describes the plight of the average working Illinoisian who becomes ill and requires hospital care. McGinnis said the average worker pays FICA social security taxes so he is assured of basic medical care later in life or when he is unemployed. If he requires hospitalization while still working, the hospital has to charge him not only for the actual cost of treating him, but also must charge him a portion of the cost of subsidizing the Medicare and Medicaid patients, since the federal and state insurance programs to do not pay enough to offset the hospital's actual costs.

McGinnis told the Granite City Optimist Club Thursday afternoon that he has been "preaching" the double taxation issue at professional gatherings everywhere he goes. "It's getting worse," McGinnis said the ratio of paying patients to the ratio on Medicare or Medicaid.

"We're living longer," he said, noting that in recent years, only 22 percent of the population of the United States was age 65 or older. By the year 2005, experts predict, 37 percent of Americans will be in the senior age bracket.

McGinnis warned that state and federal cutbacks in reimbursing hospitals for treating Medicare and Medicaid patients may end up hurting the services offered by St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Unemployment, rising prices and the sluggish economy also have taken their toll on the area and the medical center.

"We are a part of the community. As the community goes, we go. We are looking very hard at services we might have to curtail. These are things the community expects of us," he noted. He says the state has 32 separate programs under Medicaid and, in an election year, is not willing to curtail any of the programs or to raise taxes to support them. "What is going to happen is they are going to say we've got only so many dollars. You tell the people what you're going to do away with. It's ridiculous," McGinnis stated.

McGinnis said every effort is being made to match costs with expenses at the medical center without large fee increases to paying and insured patients, who now pay $15 a day for a semi-private room. "Nobody is trying harder to contain costs than our hospital," he noted.

He said the medical center employs about 1,300 persons, which equals about 1,015 full-time jobs. When some of those retire, the administration looks carefully at the job to determine if it must be filled. McGinnis said personnel is the largest part of the medical center's budget, so any true reductions must come from that area.

"We're not an institution anymore, we're a business," he noted, saying that the task of preparing next year's operating and capital budgets has already begun.

Last year, the medical center had a $5.7 million budget, of which $20 million went to salaries, $2.8 million was for employee benefits, $5 million was for supplies other than food, $943,000 was spent on raw food, $1.6 million was for capital improvements, $629,000 was spent for electricity, $350,000 for natural gas, $81,000 was spent for water and the rest was for miscellaneous expenses.

Still, the "census count" (number of patients) is down. Medicare and Medicaid are constantly reducing what they will pay and the medical center has to try and support all of its programs and employees, he noted.

Last year, he noted, St. Elizabeth lost $1.5 million through non-payment of bills and charity care. $750,000 of that was from federal. "Hill Burton" regulations requiring that hospitals give free care equaling 10 percent of the federal dollars received over the last 20 years. In these times of high unemployment, recession, rising costs and reduced income, it is a bad time for hospitals to try and repay such federal favors, McGinnis indicated.

McGinnis said he feels the medical center serves "two consumers — the patient and the doctor. All we do is provide the necessary space and equipment to care for the consumers. We owe it to the consumer to have the best possible equipment," McGinnis explained.

He said that Americans could reduce their power bills, if they would quit using air conditioners, televisions, video games, microwave ovens and other conveniences, but they are willing to pay to use these.

On the other side of the coin, he said, "We could probably reduce health care costs if we would all take better care of ourselves and practice preventative medicine."

"People don't like to pay for health care," but when they get sick, they want the best, no matter how much it costs, he told the Optimists.

"We have an obligation to the community to keep our plant and equipment in good condition," so it can continue to serve the best interests of the consumers, the patients and the doctors," he concluded.

Burglary at Radio Shack

Officers are seeking the driver of a black auto, seen leaving Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center at a high rate of speed at 4:25 a.m. Sunday, who may have been responsible for a break-in at Radio Shack, 13 Crossroads Plaza.

Two people near the shopping-center reported hearing glass breaking and an alarm sounding at Radio Shack, then saw a vehicle leave the vicinity, turning south on Nanticoke Road.

Officers found the door glass at the store had been broken. Larry Smith, manager, told police that windows at the store also had been damaged on July 12. An inventory was being compiled to determine what items were taken.

TRAFFIC ARREST Joseph D. Garriott, 35, of 2229 Delmar Ave., was charged with fleeing and attempting to elude police and reckless driving at 5:35 p.m. Saturday.

President's son attempts Mississippi speed record

ST. LOUIS — Frustrated by a transmission gear failure last week, Michael Reagan and his crew have returned to New Orleans to resume testing for their July 21 attempt to set a new boat speed record for the 1,027-mile Mississippi River run from that city to St. Louis.

"Actually, we will be more than testing; we will be deciding whether to make the run in the boat which broke last week, or to go instead with an O.M.C. outboard-powered craft, which we originally planned to use as a backup boat," said Reagan, son of the president and chief driver for the historic attempt.

The original boat, a twin turbo-diesel-powered 38-foot Scarab, has been repaired. The other boat, also a 38-foot Scarab, is powered by three 800-horsepower O.M.C. outboards.

"We hope to be able to stay with the diesel version, but may have to go with the outboards," Reagan said. The diesel power plants use less fuel and will require only two re-fueling stops. The "thirstier" outboards will need to make at least five stops.

Whichever boat they decide on, Reagan and a crew of four others plan to leave from the foot of Esplanade Street in New Orleans at 3 p.m. a week

GC woman's throat slashed, seek man

Police are seeking a man who seriously injured a Granite City woman with a knife shortly before 12:55 a.m. Sunday.

Robin Ke, 22, of the 2300 block of Benton Street, met officers at the front door of her home with a blood-soaked towel clasped around the neck and reported a man had cut her throat and taken her car a short time before.

Officers summoned an ambulance and Mrs. Ke was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center suffering several deep lacerations to the throat and superficial lacerations to her face. She was transferred to Belleville Memorial Hospital at 3:50 a.m. Sunday.

She told officers a man from Louisville, Ky., whom she initially met as a pen pal, had arrived here 11 days ago from a liquor store and found them and they had thought about getting married.

About 11 p.m. Saturday, they began arguing about the relationship and the man got a butcher knife and another knife and pushed her to the floor, sitting on her to restrain her. At that point he started slashing at her throat, asking her "how it felt," she said.

The man, described as 6 feet, 4 inches tall, weighing about 200 pounds, with brown hair, called her names and said he would kill her, but made her get up and go clean herself of blood in the bathroom, she told police.

He then forced her floor up the blood stains on the floor, police said. She reported the man's saying she needed help.

Mrs. Ke said the man also made her write two notes, one giving him permission to drive her car to visit separate locations in three states, returning the car by Aug. 20, and the second stating that he (the assailant) had no part in the cutting but had returned from a liquor store and found them and they had thought about getting married.

No offers of aid for victim of sewer overflow

For Mr. and Mrs. Randall Witter St. of Sunny Dell Acres, whose home was flooded with raw sewage July 10, the cleanup operation is proving a slow, discouraging venture with no offers of assistance from either the county sewer system or the community.

While Witter and his family endure an invasion by mosquitoes that are attracted by the damp foul conditions left after about two feet of sewage had to be pumped from the first floor of their split-level home, relief seems distant.

Witter said Friday that his most immediate problem is since he talked after his home, but he is not sure what the best way to attack the problem is and has not been able to locate a government agency that can offer guidance or manpower.

He said has been turned down by the Environmental Protection Agency regional health officer. He was denied special mosquito spraying help by Chouteau Township and he has heard nothing further from the Madison County Sanitary Sewers Special Service Area One since he talked after his home, but he is not sure what the best way to attack the problem is and has not been able to locate a government agency that can offer guidance or manpower.

illegally overloaded with storm water after the area's torrential three to four-inch rainfall two weeks ago.

County Board Member Morris Miles, sewer committee chairman, blamed residents who used sump pumps to clear flooded basements for the overflow. The committee has turned the matter over to Marshal "Zeke" Smith, assistant state's attorney.

"Whatever happens to me will happen to everyone else," Witter said.

Witter has not been quick to seek his own legal action against the county, but feels he has been waiting somewhat in vain for the county's help. He estimates the sewage flood damage will cost his family about $5,000 in supplies alone.

He is using his vacation now to repair his house and try to re-establish a normal family routine for himself, his wife and their three children.

Witter has spread charcoal on the first floor, because someone told him it would absorb smells. He has purchased a large quantity of disinfectant to scrub down the walls that must be repainted.

Meanwhile, the family daily fights the mosquitoes and puts up with the "real bad" odors.

"I'm just playing it by ear. Living day to day," said Witter.

Probation in theft attempt from woman; her car was blocked at shopping center

Elroy Newsome, 21, of 609 Mercedia St., Venice, has been fined $900 along with $91 court costs and has been placed on one year of probation by Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick.

On July 30, 1981, Newsome was charged with a July 29 robbery attempt in Granite City and this later was amended to attempted theft from a person. The case was heard this summer.

Madison and Venice police hailed a van occupied by four persons at Market and State streets, in response to word that a van passenger had tried to rob a Granite City woman 30 minutes earlier on the Nameoki Village Shopping Center parking lot.

The woman was trapped in the van prevented her from having room to drive away.

She left her auto, then, resisting his efforts to grab her purse, whose strap broke, the woman fell to the paved surface and suffered a wrist bruise and hand cuts.

She did not require hospitalization.

The four suspects were turned over to Granite City police for questioning. Three were released from custody at the time Newsome was charged.

Several witnesses provided a license number and a description of the vehicle that had pulled behind the woman's auto and blocked it.

A Venice officer saw the bronze and black van traveling south on Klein Street and turning east onto Broadway, leading to the vehicle being halted a short time later.

In a separate case, Newsome was charged Sept. 26, 1980, with an armed robbery carried out by a man and a woman that day in Lee Park, Venice. The victim was a Pontiac Beach man, 61 years old.

Once at the Venice park and arrested two persons. The Pontiac Beach resident said he had picked them up as they hitchhiked near the Granite City Army Installation, and drove them to the park.

Once at the Venice park, he alleged, the woman placed a weapon against his side and told him to get out of his car.

She obtained his wallet and the auto owner then ran through the park to the Venice police station. The car was recovered in the park.

Associate Judge P. J. O'Neil subsequently dismissed the robbery charge against Newsome.

Prison for vehicle theft

Carl B. Graham, 22, of 2102 Missouri Ave. was sentenced this summer to serve two years in an Illinois state prison for a Feb. 9 felony theft (over $300 value) in Granite City.

Circuit Judge A. A. Mateosian presided. A black 1979 four-wheel-drive vehicle was stolen during the evening, between 9:30 and 10:30, from the Action Auto Sales garage building, 1100 Niedringhaus Ave.

Graham suffered a cut across the nose at 11:20 p.m. when the vehicle skidded and flipped onto its top. As the car overturned, it broke stoplights at Maryville Road and Route 162.

He denied being the driver, saying he had been given a ride by an unidentified person.

Graham left the crash scene and was apprehended 100 feet away after becoming involved in a four-foot-deep snowdrift near a deep drainage ditch.

Police had broadcast a description of the missing vehicle after investigating the break-in. Graham's arrest followed a chase by Madison County Deputy Richard Anderson from Sixth Street and McCambridge Avenue, East Madison.

Anderson initially was summoned to the area by Deputy Mark Sprankle, who reported capturing two suspects near a parked four-wheel-drive vehicle that matched the description of the missing 1979 auto.

Sprankle placed them in custody and a wait began for someone else to arrive at the parked vehicle. The two were freed the following day after consultation with the state's attorney's staff.

It was after the first two suspects had been captured that the vehicle was seen leaving the Sixth Street area.

The pursuit by Anderson followed, ending near the 162-Maryville intersection with the wreck and the arrest of Graham.

In an unrelated case, Graham in the summer of 1980 was sentenced to three years in prison for a 3 a.m. March 4, 1980, burglary at the storage garage of Bob James' Auto Repair, 2814 N. 16th St.

Forced entry to the building had been made, $17 removed from a cash register and tools were found near an exit.

Graham was located by police under a table in the James garage when officers responded to a "burglary in progress" report and searched the building.

House Speaker George Ryan, Republican lieutenant governor nominee, is denying that he intervened for a nursing home operator to increase profits of his family-owned pharmacy.

The state dropped patient-neglect charges after Ryan arranged a meeting between the nursing home operator and the Illinois public health department director.

6-year prison order
Terry L. Chandler, 18, of 2606 Grand Ave. has received a six-year Illinois prison sentence, ordered by Circuit Judge A. A. Mateosian.

The six-year term is based on two Granite City burglary counts related to a March 15 offense. A third burglary count on the same day was dismissed.

The case was considered during the spring, with the sentencing following at the Third Circuit Court in Edwardsville.

In an unrelated earlier case, he received a 90-day jail term.

State converting Bowen for juvenile corrections

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that the A. L. Bowen Developmental Center in Harrisburg will be converted to a 308-bed medium security juvenile facility to be known as the Harrisburg Youth Center.

"I am proud to be able to make this announcement today which is made possible by the tremendous response from the community asking that the Center be converted to a correctional facility," the governor said.

Residents, community leaders, and legislators in June presented the governor with petitions bearing the names of more than 14,000 area residents asking that the Bowen Center be utilized as a correctional facility.

The governor said that the new youth center will mean saving 200 jobs in Southern Illinois.

The governor commended Representatives Robert C. Winchester of Rosiclare and C. L. McCormick of Vienna for their "dedication, hard work, and concern in assisting in the conversion."

These outstanding legislators have acted in the best interests of the community and of the state, and their unyielding persuasion has been instrumental in bringing about this announcement today," the governor said.

"Once the decision to close Bowen was made for sound programmatic reasons in the Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, compatibility with the community was a key factor in my decision to convert the center."

The governor said that increased juvenile correctional population trends require more youth facilities. He added that the cost of converting the center into a medium security juvenile facility is much less than the cost of building a new center.

Director Michael P. Lane of the Department of Corrections said he will appoint a permanent superintendent for the Youth Center in the near future.

The superintendent will oversee the center during the conversion period, which is expected to take 18 to 24 months and cost about $5.4 million.

The fiscal year 1983 appropriation for conversion is $1 million, which includes costs for a fence, a new roof, repairing the heating and cooling system and renovating three buildings and the dining hall.

An additional $4.3 million will be needed in FY84 to complete the project. Within the next few months, the center will house 120 minimum security juveniles with an interim full-time staff of 85 employees.

As the conversion continues, more juveniles will be housed and more staff added until it reaches a capacity of 308 residents and a staff of about 200 employees.

The Department of Corrections will assume responsibility for the center on July 1. Since that time, staff from other facilities have provided maintenance and security at the center and have started administrative procedures to accept the new residents.

Construction also has begun on a security fence, which should be completed within the next month.

Thompson announced Feb. 19 that the Bowen Center, which opened in 1966, would be closed to "consolidate our mental health system," and that the 157 residents of the center would be transferred to Anna Mental Health and Developmental Center.

After a June 2 meeting with Representatives Winchester and McCormick and several community leaders from Harrisburg, the governor announced that the center would be converted to a correctional facility.

Jail term for TV burglary
Orlandus Williams, 28, of Jackson Street, W. Madison, has been sentenced by Associate Judge Ferguson for a burglary committed in Venice. The charge was filed Nov. 25, 1981.

The sentence calls for Williams to spend 90 days in the Madison County jail and to remain on probation for two years.

Two persons burglarized the home of Leo Holman, 1036 near Market St., Venice. A 19-inch-screen television set was removed from the residence was identified later through its serial number.

Venice police were aided in the arrest by a description of the intruders' auto and its direction of travel. The arrest took place on Broadway and Third Street, Venice, a short time after the burglary.

News notes

A new Equal Rights Amendment for equal treatment of women—identical to the proposed Constitutional amendment that failed between March 1972 and June 1982—to receive ratification by enough states—was introduced in Congress last week. Sponsors are 51 representatives and 202 senators.

Approval requires action by two-thirds margins at the Capitol and then by 38 states.

Board denies Nichols' request, again

The Madison County Board of Appeals denied a special use permit June 29 requested by William Nichols, to utilize about 100 acres for surface mining of topsoil located by taking Route 203 from the Madison City Limits toward East St. Louis.

The property is off Bend Road to the left and then right on an old road, several hundred feet from the right turn. The entrance of the property is north and south of the roadway. The tract of land is located in Nameoki Township.

On July 12, the board denied a special use permit to Clarence and Lei La Vieseman, requesting a permit to place a single-wide mobile home on a lot located along Old Alton Road as a residence for Burl Ottinger.

All three denials will be considered at the July 21 meeting of the Madison County Board, which must approve the denials.

Repeat offender is sentenced to 3 years
Keith L. Freeman, 20, of 907 W. Washington St., W. Madison, has been sentenced to three years in prison by Circuit Judge A. A. Mateosian for a burglary occurring on a railroad property March 26.

A related burglary count was dismissed. He was sentenced to two years in prison in early 1981 for criminal damage to property occurring Dec. 9, 1980, in Madison; a burglary charge was dismissed by Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick. A tire had been taken from a van on a railroad car, and use of hammer to remove a dash-board radio caused $1,000 damage to the van. Venice police made the arrest.

It was contended in the December 1980 case that Freeman was seen rolling the tire in the alley between Jefferson Avenue and College Street near W. 2nd Street. At the time he was taken into custody, he was carrying a claw hammer.

In the late summer of 1980, Freeman was sentenced to two years of probation and three months in the county jail for property damage April 29, 1980, in Madison. A burglary charge was dismissed.

He and a man, now 25 years old, were alleged to have entered the Dunbar School annex, damaged several items, and then hid in the attic. Madison police while on patrol noticed a metal screen had been pried back and a window opened.

Officers surrounded the building. When the pair failed to respond to verbal orders to emerge from the annex, police Chief Donald Brick entered and ordered the two out at gunpoint.

Freeman's companion in the April 29, 1980, occurrence was sentenced to three years in prison for property damage.

Tri-City edges Highland; captures third

by ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Tri-City American Legion baseball manager Al Yount was relieved Sunday after the Triplets defeated Highland 7-6 in the District 22 season finale for both teams.

Yount and the Triplets have had their share of tension during the final week of the season. After a shaky start, Tri-City came on strong in the last week of the season and became contenders for an automatic spot in the District 22 North Division double elimination playoffs.

The top three teams automatically qualify for the tournament while the other five teams have to play a single elimination tournament to fill the fourth opening in the double elimination tournament.

Because of District 22's playoff system, the battle for third place can be almost as important as the battle for first place. This is why Tri-City and Highland put everything into Sunday's game.

Highland, also suffering from a shaky start, won 10 of its last 12 games prior to Sunday and also had a shot at third place.

The situation was simple to comprehend. If Tri-City won, it would win third place by itself. If Highland won, Tri-City, Highland and Edwardsville would have had to play a playoff Monday and Tuesday for third place.

To complicate things, Tri-City's pitching was being tested by its seven games in six days, and George Jarvis was called on to start. Yount didn't want to go with his regular pitchers because of the possibility of playing Monday through Wednesday this week.

Tri-City settled that question by winning, but it was by no means easy. "I'm relieved that we won because it will give me and my pitchers a chance to relax. We wore our pitching staff out the last week and they needed a rest. It will also give me a chance to rest my nerves," Yount said.

Yount needed the rest after the Highland game. Tri-City hit four home runs in the first two innings and seemed to be on the way to an easy victory, but Highland was hungry and came back in the fifth and sixth innings to give Tri-City a scare.

John Linhart began the Tri-City home game. We wanted to win this one a lot." "I knew they would give us a game and come back," Yount said. "They wanted to win so they could tie us and force a playoff. I'm kind of glad they didn't win."

"Kind of glad" is putting it lightly. Yount was overjoyed over not having to use an exhausted pitching staff early this week in the single elimination playoffs. The Triplets are idle until Saturday when they play at Collinsville.

In Sunday's first game, Tri-City pounded Freeburg 13-2 to set up the confrontation with Highland.

Sean McGowan pitched a four-hitter in six innings to pick up the victory. George Diak pitched the seventh inning for the save.

Daily had four RBIs against Freeburg, including a two-run homer in the fifth inning. Jim Moulden was 2-for-4 in the game.

Freeburg, out of contention in the South Division, went through the motion Sunday to save its better pitcher for the South's single elimination tournament.

run derby with a solo shot over the right field fence.

The Triplets continued their dissecting of Highland starting pitcher Troy Kasson. George Jarvis led off the inning with the Triplets' second home run which went over the left field fence.

Mark Vanyo walked, and Rick Buer also hit a home run over the left field fence. Dan Patterson singled, and Rick Daily followed up with Tri-City's third home run of the inning, over the left-center field fence.

Thanks to the home runs, Tri-City held a comfortable 6-2 lead. The Triplets added another run in the third when Vanyo went to second on a two-base error and scored on Mill Roe's double.

the next two batters. However, Jeff Schulte hit a hard line drive which sailed off Patterson's glove at second base to open up the inning again.

Jeff Byers added a bloop single, and Joe Brinker drove Gibbons and Schulte home with a single. Byers scored on an error to cut Tri-City's lead to 7-5.

Darrell Harris took over for Jarvis after the error, but he had some problems in the sixth inning. Jay Rindner walked for Highland, went to second on Jim Bugger's single, and scored on a throwing error by Patterson.

"After they hit the home runs, I threw them a little junk pitcher, and they were swinging too hard at him trying to hit home runs," Highland manager Wayne Wirz said. "We got a few breaks and we were able to get back in the

Don't count them out

Tri-City, Glen Carbon in Legion Series

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Can the Tri-City American Legion baseball team, which finished third in the District 22 North Division last season but came back to win the North Division Tournament and advance to the 5th Division Tournament last season, repeat its feat?

Can Glen Carbon's American Legion team, which had the worst record in District 22 this season, redeem itself in the "second season" to make a respectable showing?

These questions will be answered in the next weeks as the District 22 playoffs begin tonight. The ultimate goal for these teams is to reach the American Legion World Series in Boyertown, Pa., Sept. 2-6, but the goal at the moment just to win the District 22 tournament.

In District 22, every team has a chance to win, even Glen Carbon. Glen Carbon hosts East Alton in a first round game of the North Division, single elimination tournament for the fourth through last place teams. The winner of this tournament plays in the double elimination tournament.

Tri-City, which clinched third place on the last day of the regular season (Sunday), is idle until Saturday when it plays at Collinsville in a North Division double elimination game.

District 22 playoffs

Alton, the winner of the North Division, Collinsville and Tri-City qualified for the North's double elimination tournament, and Marissa, the South Division winner, and Fairview Heights qualified for that division's tournament.

Belleville plays at Cahokia tonight to determine who automatically qualifies for the South Division tournament.

Tri-City's American Legion team didn't start the season off well. If the hitting was strong, the pitching failed, and if the pitching was strong, the hitting failed. If both the hitting and pitching was strong, Tri-City won.

According to Tri-City first baseman George Jarvis, the Triplets' early problems could be linked to one thing—concentration.

"We weren't concentrating on playing well in the first part of the season, and Al (Tri-City manager Al Yount) told everyone to get down and play some serious baseball.

"Every one of us knew we were better than our record, but we had to get serious about playing good ball," Jarvis said. "We're hitting now, and we didn't hit or play too well earlier in the season."

Early in the season, only three players were hitting well—Dan Patterson, Rick Buer and Rick Daily. But as the season progressed, all of the Triplet lineup starting getting the key hits.

Tri-City began peaking July 10 when it smashed Alton 11-2. Tri-City also defeated Edwardsville, Marissa, East Alton, Freeburg and Highland to earn third place.

The break before Tri-City's first game is needed, especially for the pitching staff. Joe Schefke will be well rested when he pitches against Collinsville Saturday.

Sean McGowan, Darrell Harris, George Diak and Mike Zukas have also contributed to Tri-City's pitching success.

"If we can keep one hitting and pitching like we did last week, we could win this tournament," Yount said. "It's like I said at the beginning of the season, anyone can still win this league. We just have to play like we have been and make them make the mistakes."

The Triplets are sure they can repeat their feat of last season when they upset division winner Alton in the North Division double elimination tournament.

"We're going to win, we're going to win," Jarvis said.

On the other hand, Glen Carbon's 3-9 record was the worst record in District 22 this season. According to Glen Carbon manager Larry Corey, it wasn't from a lack of trying.

"I think we're a little better than our record shows because we lost quite a few close ones," Corey said. "If we could have finished 5-0, but that's as good as we could have done."

Glen Carbon only has 11 players left to finish the season. "As long as it doesn't get lower, we'll be o.k. It's kind of been a long season, but we've managed to get through the season."

Glen Carbon's biggest problem is depth. Paul Barrington is Glen Carbon's main starting pitcher. After that, Glen Carbon has problems.

"If we have games on more than two consecutive days, then we'll be in trouble," Corey said. "If we get good pitching, we can stay with any team."

At the moment, Alton and Marissa seem to be the favorites in their respective tournaments, but the general consensus is that several teams have the skill to win.

"Marissa is very, very solid," Highland manager Wayne Wirz said. "It's hard for any team to beat them, but the league is balanced this year."

"Any team can win the district this year," Yount said. "Everyone is pretty equal."

"All of the top three teams can win," Corey said. "It's just according to who is better."

Swimming comes easy for 'paddling' Geskes

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Steven Geske was not talking to reporters. The 5-year-old, who is the youngest member of the Paddlers' swim team, was just not in the mood for chit chat during the meet at Bellefontaine.

Still, the stranger persisted and asked a question: Steven hid behind his mother and turned his back. His parents good naturedly tried to convince him to talk.

The thought of uttering one syllable brought tears to his eyes. He removed his belongings — an incredible Hulk beach towel and a bag of cheese curls — from a lounge chair he had been sitting in and spread the towel out on the ground. He was content to eat his cheese curls and watch the meet, while his sister Tonya, 12, and his brother Mike, 15, would soon be competing.

Talking to reporters, however, was out of the question.

Mike and Phyllis Geske, parents of the swimming trio, joined Paddlers four years ago because their oldest son was interested in swimming. After taking every conceivable type of lesson, Mike was content only with that one sport. Nothing else would do. It was not long after that when Mrs. Geske asked Tonya if she was interested in swimming. She was. Steve had just turned two when his brother and sister started to swim on the Paddlers' team.

Six months later, he was in the water with his mother learning the basics. "He's never been afraid of water," Mrs. Geske said.

The Geskes, a talkative, friendly couple, have generally allowed their children to try anything they want. So they were not reluctant when Steve wanted to swim.

When Steve asked his mother if he could swim on the team last year she said yes. "He thought for a minute and then he said, 'where will I put all my ribbons,'" Mrs. Geske said. So far, Steve has won one ribbon, but the problem of where to put his ribbons could become serious as he gets older. Mike and Tonya, like any Paddlers' swimmers, own hundreds of ribbons apiece.

The only concern about the 5-year-old swimming, according to his father, has been wondering if Steve could keep up with the kids he swims against, who are often almost twice his age.

Watching Steve dive into the water and take off on the last leg of a relay or watching him position himself and swim the backstroke dispels any wonderment. Not only does he keep up, he does so with considerable aplomb.

Mike Geske, the eldest of the children, was not talking to reporters either. The tall redhead walked up to talk to his parents after he finished an event, but immediately hurried away before any questions could be asked.

His mother pulled him back. He shook his head. When it was suggested that this was his chance for fame, he said, "I don't want fame."

After relating and answering questions, one overriding characteristic came through: Mike Geske is not now nor does he ever plan to be bound for stardom or swimming history books.

It just is not his style. He appears to be much more subdued than either of his siblings. Even when he swims well, his life is not centered on the sport.

Olympics in his future? "No." Swimming beyond Paddlers? "Yes."

Mike would like to compete in the YMCA Nationals again as he did last April in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

At nationals Mike learned how good swimmers from other parts of the country are, his father said. It gave him a basis from which to set his goals. It also got him out of school for a week.

To Mike that is probably as big an incentive for going as the swimming. He does not like school. Swimming, however, is another story. "I just like to swim," he said. "I don't have much time to do anything else."

During the winter months, Mike and Tonya swim at the YMCA in Edwardsville. This means they have to get up at 5 a.m.

"I hate gettin' up in the morning," he said.

The summer months are different and the Geske kids get to sleep a little later. But the mornings and afternoons are filled with lessons and meets are in the evenings. Mike said he does not think about the meets or his competition.

"I get more nervous if I think about what I'm doing," he said. "I try to beat whoever I'm swimming against, but if there's nobody there I go as hard as I can."

Mike and Phyllis Geske do not expect their children to win each event they compete in at every meet. They probably would not be upset if none of their children won in any event at a meet. Although this is not the case, the Geskes have a decidedly non-pushy attitude about their children winning.

"We know the other kids are better than our kids a lot of times," Mrs. Geske said.

"We like to see them do good. They have friends on the team and that's more important than winning or losing," Geske said.

Instead, the children are encouraged to do as well as they can.

"(I swimming) keeps them out of trouble," Geske said. He laughed. Indeed, his children do not seem to be the kind of kids constantly in trouble.

But, like any other brothers and sisters, they do argue. Mike said he and his sister do not get along because "she bugs me." Tonya will report the same except from her side of the story.

Steve gets along with everybody. Except reporters.

Tonya would talk. She sat down and smiled an anything-you-want-to-know smile.

The middle Geske child usually swims in the girls 11 and 12 medley relay: the 50-meter backstroke and the 50 breaststroke are her favorite events.

"Silent Steven" Geske doing what he does best.

The girls on the medley relay team have a penchant for breaking the pool record, which they now hold. "Usually we talk before about beating the record," Tonya said.

Tonya, who will be in seventh grade at Grigsby Junior High School in the fall, plans to swim a great deal longer than her brother, Mike.

College is in her distant plans and she would like to swim on a collegiate team. The Olympics, though a future goal, cannot be easily discounted either. For now, however, competing in the YMCA Nationals in two years is her dream.

The impression Tonya Geske gives is one of a determined little girl who could do just about anything she puts her mind to. Against Bellefontaine, though, she had a small emotional setback when she lost to a competitor she really wanted to beat.

Her mother consoled her. "You just have to keep trying."

Steven was ready to talk. He had, he confided in his mother, wanted to go last anyway. As Tonya was talking amiably, Steven started swinging between two lounge chairs.

"I'm going into kindergarten," he announced.

What school? "Tonya's old school." The Geskes laughed. Steven said he likes swimming against older kids. Then he turned to cheer for his brother. "Go Mike. Go Mike. Go Mike," he screamed so rapidly the words started to run together.

"When he was born, Mike just took him under his wing," Mrs. Geske said. She sounded proud. "We like to see them do well," her husband said. According to him, he is not a bragging father.

The Geske children are in the words of their father, "about like normal kids." They realize other swimmers, even on their own team, are better. But that realization does not bother them. Their only intent is to do the best they can whatever that happens to be at any particular time.

Legionnaires split weekend pair

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Junior Legionnaires of the North (St. Louis) County League continued their almost sporadic play this weekend when the 'nine' dropped a one-sided game to St. Charles Saturday and then came back yesterday to defeat Wentzville in an equally one-sided game. Against St. Charles, Granite City led 10-0, but then came back on Sunday to defeat Wentzville 5-0.

In Saturday's game, everything seemed to favor the opposition. Granite City coach Dave Coakley said, "Things started off bad, the game was actually scheduled for this Thursday, but the (St. Charles) senior league needed the diamond the night we were scheduled, so Saturday was the only day open. On such short notice, I couldn't assemble all of our guys," Coakley said. "We didn't have all our team."

One person who was not present for Saturday's game was Jim Burton. Usually, Granite City can afford to be without a pitcher, but Saturday was not one of those "usual" occasions.

Starting pitcher Dan Whitsell, who at times seems unshakable, lasted but three innings before Mark Dowdy was summoned to relieve the faltering hurler. Dowdy lasted another three innings before he too had to be replaced. Turning to the bench, Coakley once again summoned Whitsell to relieve Dowdy, who had relieved him.

All in all, St. Charles, who Granite City had managed to defeat only a week ago 1-0 in the ninth inning, tagged both pitchers for 13 hits. The hits wouldn't have been a real problem if Granite City had been able to muster 13 or a dozen hits of their own, but it didn't happen. St. Charles not only held Granite City scoreless, but St. Charles' McEwen also pitched a no hitter.

Against Wentzville Sunday, Coakley said, "The guys looked a lot better."

Much of Granite City's success Sunday was attributed to Dowdy, who pitched the whole game for Granite City.

Granite City managed five runs on five hits, four runs in the second and another in the third. This evening, Granite City will meet Alton at Granite City North's junior varsity field. Action begins at 6 p.m.

Triplets rally in sixth; defeat Marissa

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Tri-City American Legion baseball team expected to have its hands full against Marissa Friday night at the Granite City High School South field. Marissa won the state league tournament last year and in order to get that far, defeated Tri-City in the championship game of the division.

But Tri-City pulled out the stops and beat Marissa 6-3, coming from a 3-0 deficit in the sixth inning. Because Marissa is a strong hitting team, Tri-City Coach Al Yount advised Joe Schneckle "to throw junk," specifically to Marissa's No. 3 batter, Mark Schulte. The strategy worked.

Schulte is one of the better hitters in Marissa's division of American Legion baseball, but Schneckle struck him out once, walked him once and forced him to hit into two outs — a pop foul and to second baseman Danny Patterson who threw for the out.

"We're the first team to shut him (Schulte) out (this season). Last year he hit me out on 'y' Yount said.

After a couple of bad innings, with throwing errors nearly taking the game away from Tri-City, Yount's team came out swinging in the sixth. Six hits and six runs later, all Tri-City had to do was hold Marissa for a half inning. Schneckle performed well in the seventh allowing one walk, striking out one and forcing Scott Waldrup to hit into a double.

After the fifth, I told them to take a pitch," Yount said. Tri-City batters did seem anxious at the plate in the first two innings of the battle.

Jim Moulton led off in the sixth and reached on an error by the third baseman, Rick Buer singled. After John Linhart struck out, Patterson came up and doubled a long ball that hit the left-center fence. It looked like it was long gone before it arched down. That double brought Moulton in and Buer held at third until Rick Daily singled to left and went to second on an error by the catcher. Daily and Patterson crossed when Schneckle doubled. At that point, Tri-City had only one out.

Darren DePew hit a single that arched over the infield and hit the hole between short and left-center. Schneckle and DePew both came in when Mark Yount hit a repeat of DePew's single. Yount soloed second, but was stranded. Yount, who Yount brought up from the Junior Legion team, struck out twice before that hit and then proved his base running skills on the steal.

"He's weak on the curve ball," Yount said of Yount. Yount added that Yount's problems amount to less experience than other players, but said he plans to work with Yount prior to Tri-City's play-off game Saturday.

It was Yount's third Senior Legion game. He and Moulton, who has played in 10 Senior Legion games, are the only two junior players on both rosters. Tri-City also defeated Edwardsville Thursday night, 8-4 at Edwardsville. Mike Zukas started that game and allowed Edwardsville a 4-0 lead with one run in the first and three in the third before Darryl Harris came in to relieve him.

Tri-City came back with four in the fourth, two in the fifth and two in the sixth to win the game.

Soccer tryouts

Try-outs for a new boy's 14 and under soccer team are scheduled for Wednesday, July 21 and Friday, July 23 at 9 a.m. at St. Elizabeth's.

The try-out sessions will be on the large, lighted St. Elizabeth's soccer field located at the intersection of Maryville and Pontoon roads. The team will play in the quad-city league.

Gasaway's homers haunt Civics

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — Two seasons ago Tony Gasaway was the catcher for the Southwest Illinois Civics baseball team. He was a outstanding receiver and an above average hitter.

Now, the two losses dropped the Civics to 22-16-1, while the Browns topped their season record to 17-6-1.

Tonight, in St. Louis, a drawing will be made of the eight semi-pro and amateur baseball teams who will battle it out this coming Saturday and Sunday at Maryville College for the right to play in the national baseball Congress tournament at Wichita, Kans., Aug. 6 through the 21st.

The Civics and the Browns are both even bets to win the tourney. On the season, the Browns are one-up on the Civics by virtue of their two victories Sunday. The Civics won one victory and the fourth game ended in a 4-4 tie last week due to darkness and rain.

In the first game Sunday, the Browns jumped off to an early 4-0 lead after two frames and appeared to be shoe-ins, but the Civics rallied to tie it up a fourth. With one out in the first extra inning, Tony Gasaway tied off on a 3-2 pitch of the Civics' ace southpaw, Tom Kloekner, and that's all it took.

The Civics had tied it largely on some sensational batting by Granite City's manager, Bobby Hughes, led off the inning with a walk. He stole second and scored when the Browns' shortstop (Bill Bunton) bobbled a drive by Tim Kavanagh. Prior to Sunday's twin losses, the Civics who had won ten of their last eleven games, including a 9-0 shutout Saturday of the Maryville, Ill., Red Sox at the loser's diamond and their Friday night's 1-3 walk-off of the Washington, Mo., Buds at the Missouri town's diamond.

Nameoki funding and floods concern residents, board

Nameoki Township trustees and Highway Commission President Melchior Melchior thrashed out road funding problems and reshaped reoccurring drainage trouble spots at the township's regular meeting last week.

However, when the dust settled, the highway commissioner's request for another tax anticipation warrant was granted for the third time this fiscal year. The board approved a $10,000 tax anticipation warrant to be deposited in the township's special hard road fund to immediately allow the highway department's payroll needs.

Melchior said the warrant was necessary after the Madison County Board neglected to allocate the township's share of Motor Fuel Tax funds on time.

He called the loan short-term and expects the anticipation funds to be repaid within 30 days.

The Nameoki Town Board approved the request, as it had two previous requests for tax anticipation warrants totaling more than $40,000 for the road and bridge fund.

The board balked, however, on approving a portion of the regular bill list submitted by Melchior, which covered work for a church located on Maryville Road. Board Finance Chairman W. Lee Adams put a hold Monday on two bills for concrete, which he contended went toward the improvement of private church property. Adams did not object to the township assisting the church, but drew the line at paying for the concrete.

Wednesday, Melchior acknowledged the concrete had been used on the church project. He said the township has assisted other churches with road work and on such projects expects reimbursement for any materials used.

According to Melchior, he did not request the money first — as the township normally does in the instances where private individuals are assisted with their own culverts — because the work is bonded. He said it was reasonable to assume, in this instance, that the work will be reimbursed. He said the township assisted a church in East Madison and has yet to be reimbursed for the approximately $100 worth of materials used there.

Melchior received criticism from the board's trustees and some Nameoki residents present at the meeting for long-standing drainage problems on Orville Ave. Trustee Helen Hawkins contended that the township highway commissioner filled a drainage ditch on Orville in 1977, allowing ditches to flood during rainy periods. According to Trustee Adams, simple temporary grading measures could have long ago relieved the constant flooding conditions there.

Melchior said the ditch in the residential area had to be covered to open up the main road for two-way traffic, and was intended only until a $90,000 improved project could be started in the area.

Meanwhile, the residents, who have been enduring flooded front yards whenever rain storms hit, demanded action Monday. By Wednesday, Melchior said, road crews already had dug a temporary ditch to drain the road and were continuing preliminary work on the larger scale project. The highway commission said the preliminary "checking" work actually started in March.

Melchior blamed the former Nameoki Board for funding problems in the $90,000 project, which was approved for Community Development funds last fall. In another continuing dispute, Trustee Adams and Mrs. Hawkins and Commissioner Melchior disagreed again on which township — Nameoki or Chouteau — is responsible for cleaning portions of the ditches along Morrison Road.

Mrs. Hawkins pointed to the proper drainage of Morrison Road as the key to keeping adjoining Warnock Avenue safe for elderly residents after heavy rains. Warnock, a dead-end avenue, is the only exit route for those residents who could have trouble distinguishing the road from the ditch during flooding conditions.

Both Mrs. Hawkins and Adams blame Melchior for not preventing the situation, with simple maintenance along Morrison Road. Mrs. Hawkins said that Chouteau Township representatives agree that Nameoki township's portion of Morrison Road is at the root of the problem.

Melchior disagreed, claiming a 35-year-old agreement between the two townships make Chouteau responsible for "three-fourths" of the problem.

New treatment for scoliosis

A new method in the treatment of scoliosis and kyphosis — a potentially disfiguring curvature of the spine that affects more than one in every 1,000 people — is being tested at Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital for Children.

"The method, transcutaneous electrical stimulation (TES) of trunk muscles, provides an effective means to correct abnormal spinal curvatures and eliminate the need for a brace," Dr. Behrooz Akbarian said Friday. He is director of the Scoliosis Center at Glennon.

TES is accomplished by a device called the scoliotron, which is attached to the skin surface of the back at night. Two tiny electrodes emit electrical impulses to the muscles, causing them to contract and thereby forcing the spine to straighten.

With the use of TES, national statistics report a success rate of 88 percent, the same success rate reported for restrictive braces.

"The elimination of braces and surgery as a means of therapy is a big step in the treatment of scoliosis. The scoliotron will remain experimental until final approval is received from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration," Dr. Akbarian related.

Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital for Children is one of 50 health centers throughout the U.S. participating in this research project.

Accused homosexuals arrested at Horseshoe

Horseshoe Lake State Park officials are stepping up their fight against homosexual activity at a gathering site along the northeast shoreline of the park since the arrest last week of two men, one of them a minister, on charges of public indecency.

The Rev. Laverne M. Goldrich, 60, of the 400 block of South Delmar St., Hartford, and John W. Bowers, 33, of the 200 block of John St., Collinsville, were arrested after charges were filed in circuit court in Edwardsville by Dennis Figge, a maintenance worker at the park, who alleged seeing the men engaged in a homosexual act on park grounds. Goldrich is pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Hartford.

A parking lot near the main entrance to the park along the northeast shoreline has been a gathering area for homosexuals since Lynn Wright took over as site superintendent about a year ago. Other park employees report that homosexuals have used the parking lot as a meeting place for the past three years.

Wright said there is "regular traffic" of homosexuals in the park. "On occasion we've caught them in the restroom together, but not in the act. This time they were caught in the act," he alleged.

The restrooms, which are located near the parking lot, have to be repainted by park employees about twice a week in order to cover obscene and offensive messages and telephone numbers that park officials believe are written by the homosexuals.

"They also have drilled peepholes in the privies," Wright said. The peepholes are drilled back in as soon as park employees repair them, he said.

The homosexual activity in the park, which varies throughout the year, has brought complaints from other patrons, he said. Wright, who is in charge of the park, said that homosexuals meet there "all times of the day and night."

He would not estimate how many homosexuals regularly meet at the park, but added that there are many "repeat visitors."

Park officials plan to file charges against others if they are caught performing homosexual acts or, "if there is a valid reason," Wright said.

State's Attorney Don Weber has promised to issue charges on all valid complaints about homosexual activity at the park.

The public indecency charge is a Class A misdemeanor with a maximum fine of $1,000 and penalty of up to a year in jail.

Sentenced to serve 4 years

Circuit Judge A. A. Mateosian has ordered a four-year Illinois prison sentence to be served by Jimmy Dale Poe, 39, who was listed as having addresses in the 2400 block of Logan Avenue and the 2700 block of Cayuga Street.

The sentence was based on a burglary May 27, 1981, in the unincorporated area of Madison County, and also on two Jan. 25, 1982, felony thefts in the unincorporated area. The case was heard this spring.

Court records show Judge Mateosian dismissed two theft counts filed against Jimmy Dale Poe, 21, of 2615 W. 22nd St., Jan. 25, 1982, offense had been alleged by the sheriff's department, and the state's attorney's April 15 motion to dismiss the two counts was accepted.

Hilltoppers talk of tea and new-mown hay

When the Hilltoppers Senior Citizens met at the St. John's United Church of Christ in mid-July, Mrs. Bernice Hoston, Mrs. Jean Bradford and Mrs. Agnes Garin were guests. Twenty-three were present.

The meeting opened with prayer and patriotic songs. Mrs. Helen Pfeiffer read an article, "Delightful Smells of Yesteryears," on such smells as live soap, newly-mown hay, sassafras, and blooming fruit trees in orchards.

Oliver Pfeiffer read an article on "What It Was and What It Is Now," submitted by Clara Knipping. It compared the prices of food in 1912-14 with the prices of food today.

The origin of the Hilltoppers senior citizen group was discussed. It was decided to do research on its origin and growth.

Get well cards were sent to Mrs. Amanda Deutchman, Miss Elita Locklear and Elmon Whitsell.

Refreshments and games followed the adjournment.

Robert Bladdick, 27, of 2446 Bryan Ave. has been sentenced by Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick to serve four years in a state penitentiary due to two Granite City burglaries counts.

A burglary occurred at 2:30 a.m. Dec. 23, 1981, at Hudson's Jewelry, 1901 State St. Bladdick was arrested when found in a vehicle in the 1800 block of State Street a short time later. Two women with him in the auto were released after questioning.

Officers recovered a bag containing a quantity of jewelry. It was lying in snow near a flight of steps at the rear of 1909 State. Another item belonging to the store was found on a roof.

Told that police had surrounded The Other Place tavern, 2442 Madison Ave., at 4:05 a.m. Jan. 15, 1982, Bladdick climbed out of an upstairs window that the officers had noticed was open during a routine patrol.

The window was near a roof area. A hand had been seen emerging from it, prompting the first officers on the scene to summon additional police to help surround the building. A public address system was used to inform the man that his presence had been detected. When arrested and searched, he had $190 in currency, including 40 $1 bills, and three bags of beer nuts. A check of the tavern showed money was missing from a cash drawer.

Entry had been gained by forcing plywood from the window, climbing into a back room and then entering the bar area.

The charge was filed March 1. Associate Judge Edward Ferguson presided.

Illinois expansion by General Bancshares

Mid-Continent Bancshares, the holding company for Belleville National Bank in Belleville, has announced that its stockholders last week voted in favor of the proposed merger of Mid-Continent into General Bancshares, a wholly owned subsidiary of General Bancshares, a bank holding company with its principal offices in St. Louis.

Louis E. Tiemann, president of Mid-Continent, said, "We are awaiting final regulatory approval and expect to satisfy certain other conditions so that the merger can be effected before the end of the third quarter of 1982."

Jack W. Minton, chief executive officer of the $1.3 billion General Bancshares Corp., expressed pleasure at the approval given by shareholders of Mid-Continent.

Minton noted, "When the Belleville merger is complete, we will have about a half-billion dollars in assets in Illinois. We are looking forward to the day, in the not too distant future, when our Illinois assets reach $1 billion."

The lone out-of-state company authorized to acquire banks in Illinois, under the new Illinois multi-bank holding company act, General Bancshares has selected two of the state's five banking zones for its newly announced expansion program, and is actively pursuing additional acquisitions. It owned three Illinois banks, including one in Quincy, before interstate operations were banned, and is exempt under a "grandfather clause."

The annual meeting of shareholders of General Bancshares will be held in Quincy on Aug. 18. In announcing the Illinois meeting, Minton said, "In years past, we have had shareholder meetings in Kansas City and Memphis as well as in St. Louis, to show our appreciation to our customers in all areas."

"It is particularly appropriate that we should conduct our shareholders' meeting in Illinois this year, in view of our expansion plans."

"We have owned the Illinois State Bank of Quincy since 1945 and are equally proud of the Bank of Zeigler and the Bank of Benton."

"If final approval of the Belleville acquisition is received, over 20 percent of General Bancshares shareholders will reside in Illinois. We are dedicated to building the economy of Downstate Illinois in every trade area in which we now own banks and in those in which acquire banks."

For information, interested persons may call 255-2700, extension 205. Tickets go on sale in August.

The Concert Chorale of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville won third place in the International Musical Elstadoff July 7, 8 and 9 in Llangollen, Wales. Three members of the 51-member choir are from Granite City: Dottie Robins, Debbie Popovichak and Doug Ferguson, Director. Leonard Van Camp returned to the U.S. after finishing third to Burluk Choir from Hungary, first and Con Spirito, second in the international competition.

Ten nations were represented in the event.

which has been held annually in Llangollen since 1947. "I was very proud of our performance," Director Van Camp said. "Our group, which is strictly a college choir, was very outstanding in competition with some of the best mixed choirs in the world, many of which were semi-professional chorale societies made up of older more mature voices."

"We had good audiences, excellent responses and received high compliments from the judges. Our students gave 100 percent effort and we have nothing to be ashamed of," continued Van Camp.

The first three places in the competition were separated by only eight points, with Hungary scoring 269, Norway 265 and SIUE 261.

The SIUE vocal music director characterized the entire European tour as "very successful. It has been a grand experience. We have received many nice comments about our singing all over Europe," said Van Camp.

"Although we performed all over Europe, we also did some sightseeing," said soprano Miss Popovichak. "Europe was beautiful," she noted.

The SIUE Concert Chorale won the international singing competition at Spittal, Austria, under Van Camp's direction in 1974. He also took the group on tours of Europe in 1971 and 1978.

SPECIAL THANKS

MARY CROMER AND BOB THOMAS OF THOMAS FUNERAL HOME

The Family of GASPARE "Gus" SCATURRO

I WOULD LIKE to thank everyone for the very nice get well cards, beautiful plants, and especially their prayers during my stay at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and during my surgery and convalescence at St. Louis University Hospital and at home. Everyone was so thoughtful with visits to my home and their phone calls.

It was a privilege to have the congregation and minister of the Central Free Methodist Church for their kind prayers and my neighbors Miles Oaken and Norman Meyer for mowing my grass. — Bob R. Stomach, 29 7 19

WE WISH to extend heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, flowers, and all the arrangements and masses received from our family and friends in our sad bereavement. — Thomas Funeral Home, Father Gehlen, St. Mark's Catholic Church for all Sons and Daughters of Gaspare "Gus" Scaturro. 31 7 19

HOLLYWOOD HEADLINERS

By NANCY ANDERSON

NBC has cracked down on drug-related humor on the network after the Scott Newman Foundation protested a cocaine joke on one of its late-night comedy shows.

The Scott Newman Foundation is an organization devoted to combating drug use, especially among young people. It was founded in memory of Paul Newman's son, who died of an overdose.

CBS-TV is hoping to quickly answer a recent TV Guide article, which accused the network of unfairly smearing Gen. James Westmoreland.

The president of CBS News, Van Gordon Sauter, says the magazine's 18 allegations were "serious and troublesome and require a response predicated in thorough research." This is being carried out under the scrutiny of Sauter and Bud Benjamin, who produced the Cronkite "Evening News."

Sauter says the investigation will be unbiased because he "has a vested interest in the ongoing credibility of CBS News."

Margaret Ladd of TV's "Falcon's Crest" will be off the show temporarily since she's pregnant with twins. Her doctor has determined that one of the babies will be a boy. "But they are unsure of the other one who, unlike Margaret, turned a back to the camera," says producer, Earl Hamner.

Though there's nothing funny about witchcraft, CBS is hoping viewers will split their sides chuckling at a new series about witchcraft entitled, "The Good Witch Of Laurel Canyon" written by a witch.

Producer Philip Mandelker calls writer Paul Huson "a lapsed witch," explaining that he's too busy writing to fiddle around with spells and the like.

The pilot for the show starred Art Hindle and Kim Cattrall, but network testing indicates that the series needs a new title and new stars before the fall season begins. Handle has been replaced by Tim Matheson and the search is on for a replacement for Cattrall.

Erik Estrada says he hopes the replacement for Larry Wilcox on "CHiPs" will be "a white Poncherello."

"I'm gonna kind of ride side-saddle to the next guy who comes in," he promises. "I hope he takes over the show."

But Estrada says he's anxious to get back to "CHiPs." During his hiatus from the show, Estrada worked in "Honeyboy," a World Premiere movie for NBC and the first project for Estrada Productions.

After promoting Farrah Fawcett as the perfect 30-year-old woman in the 70s, star-manager Jay Bernstein says Linda Evans will be the perfect 40-year old woman of the 80s.

Bernstein says "most of our population is nearly 40-years old because of the World War Two baby boom. Because of Women's Lib and ERA, women are keeping themselves in better shape."

When Bernstein isn't building images for his star-clients, he's serving as executive producer on "Bring 'Em Back Alive," a new CBS series starring Bruce Boxleitner based loosely upon the adventures of the late Frank Buck.

Actor Bruce Boxleitner admits that his name is a bit unusual and that, in other years, a movie studio might have changed it, but the star of the new TV series "Bring 'Em Back Alive" says he never considered changing his name.

"The main reason is that my grandfather was still alive when I began acting and he would never have forgiven me nor understood."

"I kept my real name because I felt I owed him that."

Earl Hammer, the creator of "The Waltons" and co-producer of "Falcon's Crest," says he's not a part of the Hollywood party set. "I lead a near-monastic life — it's not that I wouldn't like to be Warren Beatty, I'm just not equipped for it."

Asked to comment on the rumor that stars of "Hill Street Blues" count each others' lines out of jealousy on the set, Dan Travanti says, "It's more interesting than that."

"Each performer is interested in his or her character and is therefore alert to the length of time that character is on the screen."

"But there's no jealousy involved," he says.

Deaf to noise

When academic tests are given in a noisy room, boys outscore girls by 26 percent, when they're given in a quiet place, girls do 8 percent better than boys, an Ohio State University study has found.

New anchors in late-night sea

By DON FREEMAN

Reunited and together again for the first time — well, not exactly. Lloyd Dobyns and Linda Ellerbee were writers and co-anchors on "Weekend," that memorable series which should be revived but, apparently, won't be.

Instead, the team of Dobyns and Ellerbee will be co-anchoring a new hour-long, late-night newscast, premiering July 5. By late-night the network means 1:30 in the morning. If they must have such newscasts, and the general feeling is that they must, it is a good thing that the network has tapped these two people who bring a special flair and touch to their work. Television people call them "good communicators." What that means, jargon to one side, is that they are basically good writers who are also good talkers. It is not the worst parlay to have in the television news business, especially the writing part.

In order, Dobyns has covered events in 41 states and 32 foreign countries in his 25 years in broadcasting, two of them spent as NBC correspondent in Paris. He is from Newport News, Va., holds a degree in journalism from Washington and Lee University and he started his career in Roanoke, Va. He is perhaps best known for anchoring the landmark "If Japan Can...Why Can't We?"

Originally from Bryan, Texas, Ellerbee left Vanderbilt University in her sophomore year and has put in nearly two decades in print, radio and television journalism. She was an NBC correspondent in Washington, D.C., she contributes distinctive reports to the NBC nightly news and she frequently poses questions on "Meet the Press."

They are looking ahead to this newscast at this unearthly hour and they know what they will not be doing.

LINDA: "I'm not going to ask Lloyd about what the crabgrass is doing to his lawn. All I know is that I'll be seeing my kids when they come home from school what with the hours I'll be working but I doubt if I'll see them on school mornings. Probably I'll be going to work at 5 or 6 at night and leave at 3 in the morning. But I keep thinking that nobody I know is up at 3 in the morning to have fun with."

LLOYD: "Whatever we do, it won't be a newscast. If they had wanted a staid newscast, they wouldn't have asked us. That would be like taking the fox and throwing him into the hen house."

LINDA: "We won't be the 'Today' show at 1 in the morning. There's a lot of news that you don't see. We have a lot of foreign news that doesn't make it on the air. We have a hundred correspondents and the nightly newscast just isn't long enough. And they have something to say."

LLOYD: "Most people work 9 to 5 in the day. But there are people who want to stay up late. Altogether, there are about 223 million people in the United States and there are a great many who work the third shift. They don't see the local news. They get home at midnight or so. I used to work a shift where I'd get home at 12:30 in the morning. I always needed a couple of belts and then I'd watch TV. You can't just go to sleep. We won't have the biggest numbers in the world. So what? Linda and I will be the best-known newscasters to the smallest number of viewers at the most unusual time of night."

LINDA: "We like to think we're both pretty good writers. We'll do some features. If a man has a boat in a bottle and it's interesting, that can be pretty good journalism, too."

LLOYD: "One thing in our favor is, Linda and I will be very big with the bookies on the East Coast as they wait for the results from the West Coast. They need those West Coast scores. Now there's a segment of the population that hasn't been properly serviced with the news..."

LINDA: "The news is sometimes funny and when the news is funny we'll be funny. Whatever we say on the air we will write. We won't be news readers."

LLOYD: "Whatever our competition will be, we will certainly be fighting sleep on the part of the viewers. It's up to us to keep 'em awake. And we don't care what the opposition does. We have egos and vanities enough to fill a room — we just hope to do it better. Cable has proved there's an audience for the news out there at some strange hours. We'll give them the news but always with style. The only thing that gives style to a show is the writing. The clarity and quality of the writing establishes the style. No style, no program."

Shroyer signs with 'Dukes of Hazzard'

By ALAN L. Gansberg

HOLLYWOOD — The move by the "Dukes of Hazzard" producers to sign SONNY SHROYER to return to the series in the role of Enos has much meaning between the lines.

Outwardly, Sonny said he wants to make it clear he is not rejoining the series to replace JOHN SCHNEIDER and TOM WOPAT, who say they've quit the CBS series over a dispute on royalty payments on merchandising.

"I just hope everyone I used to work with is still on the show when I return," Sonny said after signing his new contract.

But there is more to the story. When Sonny left "Dukes" for his own spinoff — "Enos" — it was with the understanding that he could return to the parent show when and if he so desired. "Enos" lasted one season, but when it was over Sonny returned to his home in Georgia, venturing to Hollywood only for a few jobs, such as a guest stint on "Today's FBI."

So he came back when he was ready. It was awfully good timing. CBS and Warner Brothers TV, which supplies the show, are facing a long dispute with the stars. They will have to go into production in August, at the latest to be ready for a September or October premiere.
